BASR with CBM support conducted a knowledge management course led by CBM advisor on organizational development, Mr. Michael Schueber. The course provided participants with an introduction to the concepts and practice of knowledge management and aimed at introducing participants to ideas and practical approaches to implement knowledge management at BASR.

Knowledge management has become a critical management discipline that is essential in guiding organizations to utilize knowledge and support people and teams on their continuing evolution towards consistent high-performance. Knowledge management empowers people to perform at higher-levels and motivates them to sustain effectiveness.

The participants left the course with plenty of food for thought and energy to revolutionize BASR as a learning organization and enhance the quality of its programs and services.
