Introducing the UNCRPD to young people with intellectual disabilities through drama

BASR introduces the UN Convention on the rights of people with disabilities (UNCRPD) in plain language to young people with intellectual disabilities through its drama program. BASR aims at raising the awareness of people with intellectual disabilities, who are the most marginalized group in the Palestinian society, about their rights and how to access those rights as means for empowering them as self-advocates.