Recreational Activities Organized by BASR Social Workers for Inpatient Children with Disability

With a lot of laughs and childish gestures among the participating children, BASR Social workers organized recreational activities for 12 inpatient children with disabilities and their families, to promote positive attitudes and spread relaxation among the children in time of treatment.

The recreational activities included a clown’s play conducted by a Dutch comedian, rendering a musical comic show and acrobatics, “I'm very pleased to give those lovely children hope and amusement”, the comedian commented.

This show comes as part of regular recreational and leisure activities organized by BASR’s Rehabilitation departments for the inpatient children.
